

132 BC

SCIPIO AEMILIANUS returned to Rome. Tiberius Gracchus was already dead, but SCIPIO was commonly held responsible.

After 133 B.C.

Wealth instead of aristocratic descent was most important and the old Roman distinction between patrician and plebeian became much less fundamental than a new conflict between rich and poor.

131 BC

121 BC

GRACCHI were assassinated

132 BC

Tiberius Gracchus violated custom by standing for reelection after completing his one-yr term as tribune.

Partisans of the Senate murdered Tiberius and 300 of his followers

132BC

The VIA POPILIA led from ARIMINUM
through Ravenna to PADUA

132Bc

1912 Dates J-BK

None

Pliberian consuls were chosen

132 BC

DURANT

Fl. LUCILIUS

PANAETIUS in Rome

132 → 63 BC

MITHRADATES VI King of Pontus
on the Black Sea who fought 3 wars against the Romans.

(1st) 88-84 BC - he overran Asia Minor and massacred its Roman citizens, but was subsequently forced to make peace.

(2nd) 83-81 BC - Mithradates won

3rd 74-63 BC - He lost and fled to the Crimea
where he ordered a mercenary to kill him.